COLLEGE CREDIT CLASSES

The Cuesta College South County Center offers college credit classes at a convenient location. Whether you plan on earning a degree or transferring to a four-year university, achieving your educational goals has never been easier! For Spring 2016, we're offering an exciting new two-credit online class and traditional college courses that apply toward college degrees and transfer for students who are still in high school that qualify for high school credit and/or college credit. We are also pleased to bring back our FREE College Success life-long learning noncredit courses for adults as well as continue to offer GED preparation courses for residents without high school diplomas. The South County Center has helpful and friendly folks, who are also bilingual in Spanish, to assist you with what you need to know about enrolling in these courses. Computers are also available on site for you to apply and register.

Greetings South County Residents,

Cuesta College has a long history of offering classes in South County, since the inception of Cuesta College in the 1980's, and we are proud to continue that tradition. For Spring 2016, we’re offering an exciting new two-credit online class and traditional college courses that apply toward college degrees and transfer for students who are still in high school that qualify for high school credit and/or college credit. We are also pleased to bring back our FREE College Success life-long learning noncredit courses for adults as well as continue to offer GED preparation courses for residents without high school diplomas.

The South County Center has helpful and friendly folks, who are also bilingual in Spanish, to assist you with what you need to know about enrolling in these courses. Computers are also available on site for you to apply and register.

The SCC will open two weeks before classes begin to help you register.

January 4, 2016 through January 14, 2016 – Monday through Thursday from 9:00 – 9:00 and throughout the Spring semester!

You have the opportunity to enroll in one of these great educational opportunities offered at Cuesta College.
