North County Campus History

Courses have been taught in the North County since the mid 1960's at various high school sites. In Fall 1998, the College opened the North County Campus located on 105-acres in Paso Robles, CA. The campus, initially established almost exclusively with private gift support, has grown from 1,200 students taking courses in modular buildings to over 3,000 students with three permanent buildings, and two more on the way.

One College, Three Locations in San Luis Obispo County

All degree applicable courses taken at any Cuesta College location (San Luis Obispo, North County Campus in Paso Robles, South County Center at Arroyo Grande High School, or through Distance Education) apply towards a Cuesta College degree. Students can take courses at any site that will allow them to earn credits to transfer into the CSU / UC higher education systems.
