Talking with Your Instructor

My name is: ________________________________

I am in your ____________________________ class that meets on __________________ @ ____________

My question is: ________________________________

What I have done to answer it already is: ________________________________

This is what I do understand: ________________________________

This is where I am stuck: ________________________________

Make the Most of a Meeting:

- Schedule a time to talk to your instructor. Email your instructor or approach him/her after class. Many times the syllabus will list the preferred way to schedule a meeting.
- Arrive on time to the meeting.
- Bring the course syllabus and a list of your questions.
- When asking questions, if your instructor’s explanation is clear, follow up with
  - “Thanks, that’s helpful.” “My next question is…”
- If your instructor’s explanation is not clear, follow up with
  - “What does that mean?”
  - “Can you help me understand the main point?”
  - “Can you give me an example?”
  - “Is there a page in the textbook, specific lecture notes or a resource online that I can reference for further information?”

Tips for discussing your grade in the class:

- Carefully read all of your instructor’s corrections and comments.
- Make a copy of the assignment and write out your questions.
- Go with a good attitude. Be respectful and calm. This is a conversation, not a negotiation or a trial.

After you have an open honest talk, you’ll have a better idea of what your instructor expects of you. Remember your instructor is a valuable resource and he/she wants you to succeed. Also, be sure to thank your instructor for his or her time.
